

Student Work

An Undergraduate Student, Trinity Rist, contributed the above creative project to The Good Death class, a new seminar taught by Dr. Zachary Wooten. The class explored death, dying and bereavement, and featured guest speakers, including the Chester County coroner, a palliative care doctor from the University of Pennsylvania hospital system, a death Doula, a local funeral director, and more.